NST wins online media award

KUALA LUMPUR: The New Straits Times Online was chosen as the 2014 Most Supportive Online Media by CyberSecurity Malaysia, the cyber security specialist agency under the Science, Technology and Innovation Ministry, yesterday.

Media Prima Group was voted as the Most Supportive Media Company while Harian Metro walked away with the Most Supportive Print Media — Newspaper award.

NST Online editor Badrolhisham Bidin received the award from Deputy Minister Datuk Dr Abu Bakar Mohamad Diah.

Chairman of the CyberSecurity board of directors General Tan Sri Mohd Azumi Mohamed said the awards were given to the media for their support of accuracy in journalism. He said journalists must continue to raise awareness about cyber security issues through articles and programmes.

“Inaccurate reporting can undermine important news stories and mislead the public.”
